

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE AMENDMENTS.

Two amendments to the state constitution will be voted on Tuesday and both ought to pass. It requires only a majority to pass them, and not two-thirds as in some cases.

The convict labor amendment seems to be opposed nowhere.

With organized labor a unit in its support, with 90 per. cent. of the counties in partnership with the State in building roads, a majority for the convict roads amendment would seem secure.

In the matter of the tax revision, says the Louisville Times, the farmer has been educated to the fact that ninety cents out of every dollar collected in taxes comes out of his pocket. With that fact in mind, he would be a fool not to vote solidly for a change in the system. And the Kentucky farmer is not generally credited with being a fool. As for the business men of the State, having no great liking for perjury and not being especially appealed to by confession, their vote for the tax revision amendment can be counted on as a certainty.

The world wide horror at the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, an English nurse in Belgium, by Germans, has called forth an official statement in which it is claimed that she was a spy who deserved death. It is also claimed that two German women were executed in France as spies last spring. The admission is made that Miss Cavell was shot as a "horrible example" to deter other women.

Hopkinsville welcomes to the city, Mr. J. A. Whitaker, the government road expert, who has come from Clarksville to this city to live. The Clarksville paper gives him a handsome testimonial, that we reprint today. Such citizens are always gladly received in Hopkinsville.

Keep the good work going. Do not halt until the goal of victory is reached. No good generals ever stop until they have obtained a sweeping and everlasting victory. Be up and doing until the close of the polls on the afternoon of Nov. 2.

Official announcement has been made that the total number of British merchant vessels, exclusive of fishermen, sunk by submarines to Oct. 14 was 183. The number of fishing vessels sunk to that time was 175.

Fa, a German spy, says he came here with his government's approval to blow up ships carrying munitions at sea by the use of clock-work bombs. The Germans shot a woman the other day for less than that.

With a voice as clear as the mountain air and eloquence as sweet as the songs of its birds, Mr. Stanley most feelingly proclaimed to those homogeneous people, democracy pure and undefiled.

When Stanley beheld the great, green colored mountains and breathed the pure and invigorating atmosphere, he exclaimed, "God bless the mountain people."

Kentucky has never before needed a man so well qualified and endowed with natural gifts as Owsley Stanley is to sit in its gubernatorial chair.

The fear of a Grecian hatpin is still more powerful than the desire to own the island of Cyprus, four times as large as Christian county.

Let every man who calls himself a democrat prove it by his worth. Energy, pluck and perseverance will prove it on November 2nd next.

Morrow is touring the mountains this week in a special train but is not hitting Stanley's mule trail.

One thing to be thankful for this year is that Hallowe'en comes on Sunday.

King George has gone to the battle front in France.

NEW HOUSE TO BE OPENED

R. S. Ambrose, Henderson Lumber Man, Coming to This City.

HANDLE BUILDING MATERIAL

Located In The Starling Building On Eighth And Clay Streets.

R. S. Ambrose, an experienced lumberman of Henderson, has arrived in the city to open a lumber office. He will be located in the Starling building on 8th and Railroad streets, with an addition extending through to Clay street, where the office will be.

Mr. Ambrose is already receiving goods and will open at once, but it will be about three weeks before he is entirely ready for business. He will handle building materials of every kind, dressed lumber, doors, windows, glass, paint, hardware and supplies generally.

Mr. Ambrose was until two years ago in the same business in Henderson but sold out. He has had 17 years' experience and understands every detail of the business.

The big building is conveniently located on the L. & N. railroad, having formerly been used as a wholesale grocery.

C. P. SYNOD IN SESSION

Opened Tuesday Night and Will Continue Throughout Today.

The Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church opened Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, with an extra large audience in attendance, many delegates and visitors from all over Kentucky and other states having arrived during the day.

A very interesting program was given at this first meeting. The Synod was opened with all singing "All Hail the Power." Special solos and anthems were sung by members of the choir during the services. Rev. J. B. Eshman, pastor-host, made all the visitors feel much at home from the very first and with fitting words introduced the first speakers.

C. R. Clark, on the part of the city and H. B. M. A., welcomed the Synod in an eloquent speech.

Rev. Lewis Powell, on the part of the Pastor's Association, ably welcomed the Synod as a religious body.

Prof. Marion, City Superintendent of Schools, welcomed the Synod with well chosen words.

Responses in behalf of the Synod were given by Elder E. B. McEuen on part of the eldership and Rev. A. C. Biddle on the part of the ministry.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Hugh Watson from the text II Kings 18:24. This was in every way a strong discourse and a strong plea for the baptismal fire of the Holy Spirit upon the church.

Rev. A. C. Biddle, of Bowling Green, Ky., was elected as Moderator for the coming year.

Many ministers and laymen of note are in attendance from other Synods. Revs. Hudgins, Courtis, Wood and Guynn, with Elder R. L. Bashette, are among the numbers. The Synod bids fair to be one of the very best meetings held in recent years.

PYTHIAN GRAND LODGE.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the grand temple of Pythian Sisters opened its annual sessions in Lexington Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. This is the forty-seventh meeting of the grand lodge, and the session will continue three days.

GREAT DEMOCRATIC RALLY TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN FOR CHRISTIAN COUNTY

Democratic Special Train, Bearing Crowd of Orators The Like of Which Has Never Been Seen In Hopkinsville Before, Will Arrive Here Today.

WILL MAKE STOP AT PEACE PARK AT 4:30--SHORT TALKS.

A. E. WILLSON IS COMING

To Try To Inflate The Sad'y Collapsed G. O. P. Balloon.

PREPARING FOR A RALLY

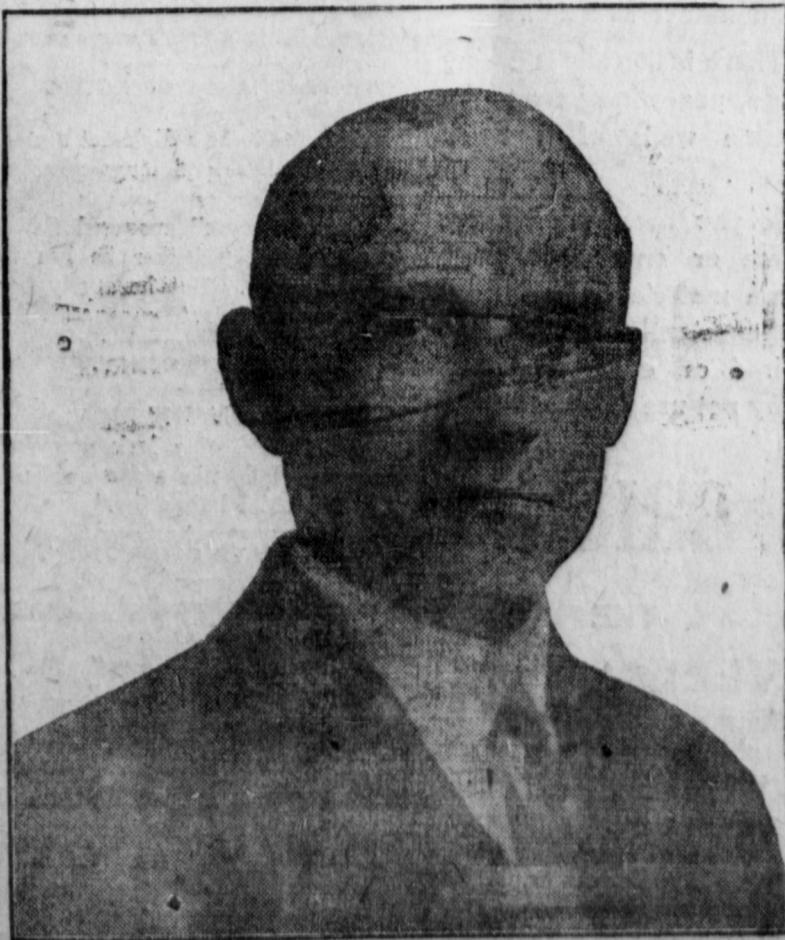

To Offset The Effect Of The Stanley Band Wagon's Visit.

Former Governor Augustus E. Willson will be the big gun at a Republican rally held here at one o'clock p. m. next Monday, either at the court house or the Tabernacle. The Third Regiment Band will make music and there will be an effort made to repeat the success of the Morrow speaking and give the former governor a big crowd.

Outside of the Morrow reception, the Republican campaign has been listless and devoid of interest. The Republicans evidently have no hope of winning with the Progressives again cutting deep into their party and the Democrats united everywhere. There is no known defection in the Democratic party, all dissatisfaction over the primary having disappeared. Gov. Willson has many personal friends here and he will no doubt have a big crowd but he will not be able to put any life into the inanimate remains of a party that once elected him Governor, with the help of many Democrats.

Some of the local orators have been induced to mount the raging stump this week. Bob Cook and Alvin Clark have lifted up their voices and even Claude Clark has been induced to make a few remarks. They started at Haley's Mill and Dogwood yesterday and today will be at Adamsville and miss the big Democratic rally here. Tomorrow and Saturday they will be at Hawkins, Gresham's Store and Crofton.

WILL BE ONE OF THE SPEAKERS AT THE TABERNACLE TONIGHT.

H. V. McCHESNEY.

Speakers To Be Left Over For a Big Rally at The Tabernacle at Night.

Democracy undefiled, untainted and undaunted will flaunt forth its victorious banner in this city tonight at the Tabernacle when a great aggregation of fighting, speaking and argumentative Democrats will shout forth the platform of the Democratic party and will defend it against the futile and puny attacks of the Republican campaign speakers. The event promises to be a great Democratic rally and indications are that a gigantic crowd will squeeze into the Tabernacle to hear the two orators who are to speak in behalf of Augustus O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for governor of Kentucky, and the coterie of sterling Democrats who compose the remainder of the ticket.

The special train will stop at Peace Park at 3:48 p. m. with the following orators on board:

A. O. Stanley, the nominee; Governor James B. McCreary, Senator Ollie M. James, Harry V. McChesney, defeated candidate for the nomination, but now a Stanley supporter; Lieut. Governor McDermott, Senator Jno. W. Kern, of Indiana; Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois; Senator W. J. Stone, of Missouri; Congressman J. T. Heflin, of Alabama; Congressman Cullop, of Indiana; Congressman Dixon, of Indiana; Congressman Allen, of Ohio; ex-Governor of Ohio Jas. M. Cox; Congressman Russell, of Missouri, and Congressman Hull, of Tennessee.

The special train will stop at the L. & N. depot at 3:48 p. m. and remain until 5 p. m. It will arrive at Pembroke at 5:25 and make a stop there of 10 minutes. It is not known which of the speakers will be heard at the depot, but Congressman J. T. Heflin and Harry V. McChesney will stop over for the rally at night.

The rally here to-night has been well advertised all over this county and adjoining counties. Trigg and Todd will send large delegations. Much satisfaction is expressed that

46 CASES OF TRACHOMA

Found In The Hopkinsville Public Schools By Examiners.

DR. McMULLEN'S LECTURE

Clinic Held at The Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital.

In the examination of the schools here for trachoma, the contagious disease of the eyes that is epidemic in many places, Drs. John McMullen and A. T. McCormack found a total of 46 cases in the Hopkinsville schools. Some were incipient and others well advanced. The children affected will have to be out of school until cured, which usually takes about two weeks.

Dr. J. H. Rice accompanied the visiting doctors in their rounds and Monday afternoon a clinic was held at the Hospital and two cases were operated upon. The same night Dr. McMullen delivered a lecture at the Avalon on the symptoms, care and treatment of the disease, which was illustrated with stereopticon views. He gave much interesting information about a little understood disease that often causes blindness if neglected.

Harry McChesney is to be one of the speakers. He was sent ahead last year to hold the crowd when Senator James came here to speak at night and made many friends. In his own canvass last summer he spoke here and had a big following. Congressman Heflin has never been here before, but he comes with a reputation for oratory that makes the people eager to hear him.

There will be an automobile parade from the depot at 5 o'clock in honor of Messrs. Heflin and McChesney, which will wind up at Hotel Latham, where the distinguished gentlemen will be entertained while in the city.

LESS THAN ONE HUNDRED

New Names Have Been Added To Registration List.

The supplemental registration three days of this week was drawing to a close in the office of the County Clerk yesterday afternoon with the indications that the total number would not exceed 100. Up to noon there had been 45 Republicans and 36 Democrats added to the regular lists, which aggregated 2259. The combined total will not be far from 2350. One of the Democrats who came in yesterday, was Webb C. Bell, of Indianapolis, who still retains his residence here. He will stay over until Tuesday to vote the Democratic ticket.

MINISTER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Middlesboro, Ky., Oct. 27.—The Rev. J. C. Crider, of Hagan, Va., 35 years old, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. Crider had been in poor health for sometime.

SERBS BEING FORCED BACK

Apparent That They Can Hold Out But Short Time Against Big Force.

MORE TROOPS SENT TO FRONT

Austro-German and Bulgarian Armies Steadily Advancing on Their Little Victim.

London, Oct. 27.—Serbian troops, so gallantly holding the little north-eastern corner of their country, where the Austro-German and Bulgarian armies are about to merge, are being slowly forced back.

In fact, all along the northern and eastern frontiers of Serbia the invaders are making steady progress, although at great cost, as the Serbians, now that they have reached the hills are making them pay heavily for every mile covered.

It is only in the south, where the French have joined the Serbians, that the Bulgarians are being held. Here the French and Serbians are entrenching themselves and awaiting reinforcements, which they hope will enable them to drive the Bulgarians out of Macedonia.

Great Britain and France, according to the Marquis of Lansdowne, are preparing to strike blow for blow, and hope eventually to receive the support of Greece and Rumania, although they are not depending upon them.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, told the house of commons that Great Britain's offer to cede Cyprus to Greece had lapsed, as Greece had not filled her treaty obligations to Serbia. The British minister at Athens is reported to be making representations to Greece with respect to the use of Saloniki as a base for the allies and also with regard to Greece's future action.

On the eastern and western fronts, as in Serbia, heavy fighting continues. In the Riga an Dvinsk regions of Russia the German field marshal, von Hindenburg, undaunted by repeated failures to reach the Russian fortresses on the Dvina river, is making another furious effort. Along the rest of the line, through the provinces of Vilna, Grodno and Volhynia and in Galicia there have been battles at many points with the advantage first one side and then on the other.

The Italians are still carrying on their offensive against the Austrians, while the struggle in the Champagne region of France, begun when the French captured a portion of the La Courtine works from the Germans, some of which the Germans have recaptured, is still in progress. The French claim they have extended their gains here by taking an adjoining trench north of Massiges.

LET IT BE BY ACCLAMATION.

If the reports coming in from all sections of the state to the Democratic headquarters at the Galt House are half way correct it would save not only much aching of hearts of our republican friends but a whole lot of their trust furnished dough. From the first district it is nothing to it but Stanley. The second will be close behind it as this district is Mr. Stanley's home district and the voters down there simply adore this gifted and logical son. The third will give him a splendid majority while the fourth will be found piling up its old time seven thousand to the good. The fifth will do its duty and so will the sixth, followed by a large one in the seventh and fair ones in the eighth and ninth. Report from the tenth is extremely encouraging and in Morrow's home district it now appears Stanley will cut his majority one half, so where, for the love of Mike, is there any show coming for the republicans? Let's make it unanimous for Stanley and go home and rest for awhile so as to give our friends, the republicans, a breathing spell.

SAW A NEGLECTED SPECIES

Little Robbie Pointed Out One Thing
Which Certainly the Fly Couldn't Do.

In the opinion of some persons, the new teacher was going almost too far in her attention to nature study.
However, the children appeared to enjoy it all, and so far no parents had made open objections to the little talks on birds, insects and flowers with which the teacher diversified the routine of school work. So all went along quite comfortably until the afternoon when the fly and the flea were up for consideration, says
the Youth's Companion.

Following the teacher's lead, the children had all grown enthusiastic over the astonishing acrobatic abilities of the fly—all except Robbie May, who for some time had been staring moodily at his desk, casting only occasional glances at the teacher, and those unmistakably sullen.

It became so noticeable, by the time they were all admiring the fact that the fly can walk on the ceiling, that the teacher paused and turned to the boy.

"What is the trouble, Robbie?"
she inquired. "Aren't you listening?
Aren't you interested in the talk?"
"Ye-es," granted Robbie, reluctantly polite. Then, warming up,
"but I bet a fly can't hang by his knees, and every boy in school can do it, all 'cept Laurie Lee, and he's had the diphthery!"

BURY ST. EDMUNDS FORTIFIED

English City Has Long Figured as One of the Most Important of the Island Centers.

Germany will find no difficulty in describing Bury St. Edmunds as a fortified place. Its name gives it away. Bury St. Edmunds was known of old as St. Edmunds Bury —the castle or "strong town" of that king of East Anglia who was put to death by the Danes in 850; and so became a saint. The six pious priests who decided to perpetuate his memory were the unconscious founders of a town and an abbey that afterward became the greatest ecclesiastical establishment in all England, except Glastonbury. Leland, an eyewitness of its splendors, assures us "that the sun hath not shone on a town more delightfully situated, with a small river flowing on the eastern part, or a monastery more illustrious, whether we consider its wealth, its extent, or its incomparable magnificence."

You might indeed say that the monastery itself is a town, so many gates there are, so many towers, and a church than which none can be more magnificent; and subservient to which are three others, also splendidly adorned with admirable workmanship, all standing in one and the same churchyard.—London Chronicle.

CHEERFUL PEDESTRIANS.

were first introduced they seemed likely to kill all the pedestrians, but selves much faster than they are mately.—Fredonia (N. Y.) Censor.

HUMANITY'S SPLENDID FUTURE.

"Don't you care for the opinions of posterity?"
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum.
"But after eugenics produces a race of perfect human beings I don't believe that there is any chance of this generation's being able to command anything from posterity more than tolerating pity."

Polishing and Renovating.

When the furniture begins to lose its original appearance of freshness, it should be renovated. A standard polish calls for raw linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar, well shaken; but while this is really a good polish, there is danger of allowing too much of it to remain on the surface of the furniture. Remember that the office of a renovator is simply to remove dirt and grease and not to give it a new surface. Hence, when you rub with a renovator, follow it with an other rag and wipe off thoroughly.

No Longer Live Over the Shop.

Living over the shop is no longer
the custom with the great West end tradesmen; they sleep in the outer suburbs. One of the very last is threatened with dispossession by the berts have stuck to the famous shop in Coventry street, dealing in it as silversmiths by day and sleeping over it by night.—London Chronicle.

PENSION GOES WITH CROSS

Most Highly Prized Decoration of the British Army Also Carries a Financial Reward.

In the original instrument, drawn up in 1856, when the Victoria cross was instituted, Rule 14 declares:

"It is ordained that every warrant officer, petty officer, seaman or marine or noncommissioned officer or soldier who shall have received the cross shall from the date of the act by which the decoration has been gained, be entitled to a special pension of £10 a year, and each additional bar conferred under Rule 4 on such warrant or petty officers or noncommissioned officers or men shall carry with it an additional pension of £5 per annum."

The Rule 4 referred to provides that when a man who holds the Victoria cross performs another act of bravery that would have entitled him to the cross if he did not hold it, he shall have a bar. Apparently the number of bars he may win is unlimited.

In 1898 an alteration was agreed to in regard to the rule about Victoria cross pensions.

"In July, 1898, it was decided that, at the secretary of state's discretion, a sum of £50 a year may be granted by way of pension in lieu of the £10 which has accompanied the V. C. since its institution."

This is a difference only in amount —a very welcome difference in some cases no doubt. It does not extend the scope of the grant, for only such men may get the £50 a year as were before entitled to the £10, seeing that the £50 is "in lieu of the £10."

CAN BOAST NOBLE LINEAGE

"Johns" Have Distinguished Themselves in the World in a Countless Variety of Ways.

The name John is one of our best, also one of our oldest. It is found in nearly all languages, and no matter how disguised, from Juan to Johannes, it is almost certain to be identified. The Johns have a magnificent family tree. It is instructive to trace the genealogy. There was an apostle named John, and also a John the Baptist. There have been 23 popes and one antipope by the name of John. Three kings of Aragon and Castile, one at least of Bohemia, numbers of Portugal, France and England have borne the name of John. There was John Sobieski, the "greatest of the Poles." There was John, surnamed Lackland, who was forced to sign the Magna Charta. There was John the Good. Running down the famous list we find also John the Fortunate, John the Perfect, John the Fearless, John the Constant. Was there ever an ignoble John?

Then there was Jack of the Bean Stalk fame; also Little John, who was not little, but who, on the contrary, was tall and strong and who was one of the most impudent followers of Robin Hood. If old King John gave England the Magna Charta, John Hancock helped to give us our Declaration of Independence. If John of Poland distinguished himself on old battlefields, Sir John French bears up the name today. If the historical and symbolical Johns seem too numerous we might add John Rockefeller and John Condon. And how about John Doe?

TO PROTECT BIRDS.

President Wilson has signed an order creating the Big Lake reserve in northeastern Arkansas for the protection of native birds. The new reserve, about nine miles long and varying from one hundred yards to a mile and a quarter in width, forms probably the most important bird reservation in the country. Big Lake is famous for its vast number of waterfowl and plume birds.

GET USED TO THE TRENCHES

Soldiers Have Come to Recognize the Dangers as All in the Line of Work.

Among the stories of horrors that come from the front there are a few that indicate that the soldier in the trenches occasionally finds time to laugh. A French captain recently described a scene between one of his soldiers and a German. The French trench had been damaged by German shells and had been repaired with bags of sand. It turned out that the German trench, which was very close, had also suffered, but the Germans were temporarily without sandbags. A daring German soldier left his trench in the dead of night and began to pass French sandbags back to his comrades. He was observed by the officer, who immediately passed down the French trench, intending to reproach his men for negligence, but as he drew near, a French soldier, evidently admiring the German so much that he could not shoot at him, reached out and struck the German on the hand with a shovel.

Letters from soldiers stationed in the thick of the activities in France indicate that the veterans who have seen a year of active service in the trenches are coming to look upon trench fighting simply as a more or less dangerous trade. Back of the main line of trenches are the reserve camps, where the soldiers rest after two or three weeks of burrowing, and in these camps games are played, and, except for strenuous drill, life goes on very much as it does at maneuvers in times of peace. Thus do men seek pleasures with death all about them; and thus do they adapt themselves to conditions which, at a distance, seem one round of horrors.

HAVE THEIR OWN METHODS

Soldiers When Marching Almost Invariably Sing Songs, Though They Do It in Different Ways.

On march singing is regularly encouraged by the officers of the Russian army, and the chief singer, who marches in front of each company, draws extra pay and enjoys other privileges. He sings some opening words, often improvised and "risky," just as the chantyman used to do in British ships, and the company comes in on the chorus.

It would be interesting to have a really scientific examination of the various national methods of marching.

The French sing a good deal on the march, but their magnificent marching seems to be due more to a kind of traditional passion for this form of achievement.

A battalion will often start off in the morning grumbling and resentful under their heavy packs, but before the end of the march—if it be a real test of endurance—an exhilaration, an athletic frenzy, as it were, will descend upon them, and they will swing into their new camp lusty, proud and strong, much finer men than when they began.

There is no marching in the world quite like theirs.

DOING QUITE WELL.

"Extra! Nineteen more Americans killed."

"Only nineteen this time. That's better. I never really lost faith in German's good intentions."—Life.

Lawyer Thought He "Had" Witness, but as it Turned Out He Was Decidedly Wrong.

Two men had been arrested in a dry town for drinking, and the prosecuting witness was on the stand. "You say," said the attorney for the defense, "that you saw the men in the field drinking?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"Was the field fenced?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where were you?"

"On the far side of the fence."

"Was there a board off that you could see through?"

"No, sir."

"Was there a knothole in the fence?"

"No, sir."

The attorney braced himself for the crushing question that he had ready to launch at the victim whom he thought he had so adroitly cornered.

"Now," he said, banging the table, "will you tell the court how you could see the two men drinking in a field surrounded by a fence with no boards off and never a knothole in it?"

"Yes, sir," said the witness.

"Well, tell it," commanded the attorney, impatiently.

"It was a barbed wire fence," Judge.

Monkeys and Microbes.

In the Zoological gardens in London the anthropoid apes have been kept alive by shutting them in behind glass, not to protect the visitors from them, but to protect them from visitors—that is to say, from the microbes that man harbors in his mouth. Man has more or less successfully learned how to disarm those invaders, but they will readily destroy those near relatives of his whose bodies have not learned how to resist them. Mankind has no better friends than those who, like Metchnikoff, teach us what to do and what not to do in arming and insuring ourselves against these sleepless and implacable but assuredly doom enemies of our kind.—Youth's Companion.

Pictures in Gardens.

Above most other arts, landscape architecture is based on nature, and the art should be practiced on natural lines. The evolution of growing things, the development of distinct types of effect, although greatly varied, can be, and should be, made to bear the stamp alike of definite, though perhaps instinctive, ideas throughout the various kinds of landscape gardening, whether it be a park, an estate, a village garden or a window box. It should make a fine picture, no matter how small or how large.—N. Y. Telegram.

Captain Murphy Makes Fine Impression at Christian Revival.

The place of Mr. and Mrs. Harding, as soloists and chorus leaders, has been satisfactorily filled by Captain Murphy in the Christian church revival and the interest goes on unabated. Captain Murphy sang last night and he will sing tonight. He has a wonderfully rich and powerful voice and inspires every member of the congregation to sing. The singing is a large factor in the meeting. The pastor preached last night on, "For another's sake," based on the story of Mephibosheth. One hundred and eleven people have united with the church up to Tuesday night. Thursday 4 p. m. and Friday 4 p. m. there will be baptisms for both men and women, Thursday night after church for men and Friday night for women. It is expected that all who have made confession of faith but have not yet been baptized will be baptized before Sunday, that they may be received into the church Sunday morning. The junior chorus is helping very materially in the singing. Mr. Jessup will take the juniors on a nutting trip into the country Saturday 2 p. m. The subject of the sermon tonight is, "A Second Chance."

She Knows What She Wants

The well informed housekeeper insists upon using only a baking powder which is made of cream of tartar. She might read in an advertisement or be told that alum and lime phosphate, which are used as inferior substitutes in cheap baking powders, were all right in the quantities used but she would not buy them or permit them to enter her kitchen. Why?

Because she knows that cream of tartar has always been accepted as the most wholesome agent, with soda, for raising cake and biscuit, and she wants a baking powder made of cream of tartar, like Royal.

This conclusion is the result of unconscious absorption, either her own or her mother's, of the opinions of the highest authorities on hygiene and home cooking.

The prudent housekeeper, when she uses baking powder, reads the names of the ingredients printed on the label. She knows what she wants.

Asbestos.

Most of us know little more of asbestos, the strange rock fiber that is almost as soft and pliable as cotton or woolen fabric, than that it is used in making fireproof theater curtains. In other ways it is fast coming into use as a "safety first" building material. Not only does it protect against fire, but it is also a nonconductor of heat, and is therefore useful in preserving an even temperature. Most of what we use in this country comes from Canada, but Arizona is now beginning to produce asbestos of excellent quality.—Youth's Companion.

Don't Go To Sleep.

Election day is but a short time away. In a few brief hours the die will have been cast. Kentuckians will know whether during the next four years, they will be under the management of the Democrats or the Republicans.

The issues have all been discussed. Every Kentuckian knows, or ought to know, who the contending candidates are and what they stand for. The time for action is at hand. The time for thought is past. It is the duty of every Democrat in Kentucky, every man who loves freedom and the rule of the people, not only to go to the polls himself but to see that his neighbor goes and casts a vote for Stanley and the rest of the ticket.

If Mr. Democratic voter, there is a man living beside you who, for one reason or another, figures that his vote will not be needed, go after that man. Make him go with you to the polls. The Republicans are working tooth and nail. They are spending money like water in an effort to keep down the Democratic majority. A small Democratic majority will please the Republicans almost as much as would the election of their ticket, for if the majority for the Democrats is slight, the Republicans, though defeated, will still be able to say that the country is turning toward Republicanism and that a Republican President will be elected next year.

Should the race be close every Democrat in the state ought to hang his head in shame. We have the votes. Let's cast them. Let no Democrat be compelled to say to himself on the morning of November 3rd,—"I wish I had gone to the polls."

1,000 Killed by Shells.

London, Oct. 25.—The bombardment of Dedeaghat caused the death of ten civilians and more than a thousand soldiers, and there also were a large number of soldiers wounded, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens.

A large proportion of the military casualties, the correspondent adds, were in the barracks which housed the Fortieth Bulgarian Regiment.

The barracks were crowded with soldiers, who were preparing for their meal when the bombardment was opened with accurately aimed shells, which demolished the barracks, burying the occupants in the ruins.

Troops engaged in digging trenches around the town also sustained very heavy losses.

Fires caused by the exploding shells destroyed the railway station and surrounding buildings, doing enormous damage. It is stated that the entire loss from the bombardment, which lasted four hours, will be several million dollars.

The correspondent says the bombardment was directed by aeroplanes which flew over the town throughout the afternoon. Twenty warships participated. The Bulgarians are now engaged in preparing defenses on the surrounding mountains.

Puerto Ligos was fiercely bombarded by eight warships Thursday and again on Friday.

Mrs. Jane Richardson died about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home on East 21st. street. Death was caused by paralysis. She was the widow of William Richardson and was about 75 years old. The deceased had not enjoyed good health for some time. Funeral arrangements had not been made when we went to press.

One County Reports.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 27.—Reports from sections of the county state that the pheasants released here last fall by the State Game and Fish Commission are thriving and raising broods. Several of the pheasants were killed by accident and by exposure to the weather, but the majority lived and became acclimated very shortly.

Mrs. Coulter Honoree.

Mrs. Alex Boulware, Mrs. Durrett Moore and Miss Lalla Dennis were hostesses at a reception given Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. B. F. Coulter, of California. It was largely attended and a brilliant society event. The decorations were artistic and appropriate and the refreshments delicious.

Thirteen Lives Lost.

Twelve girls and a man perished in a fire that swept a four-story Pittsburgh structure, the two upper floors of which were occupied by the Union Paper Box Company. An investigation has been ordered.

Rise in Rubber Due.

About 1,500 machinists employed by the Akron rubber companies and allied industries, have been voluntarily promised an increase of 15 per cent. in their wages, the proposed increase amounting to $1,000 a day.

England's per capita consumption of codfish is the greatest of any country's.

RESIDENCE WAS ENTERED

Burglar Made Water Haul at Lafayette Sunday Night.

Sunday night a burglar entered the residence of Dr. J. J. Ezell at Lafayette. It seems that the object of the thief's visit was to secure money, but he found none, and nothing of much value was missed, although the furniture in every room was upset and some dishes in the cook room were broken. Dr. Ezell and family were in Nashville at the time. Entrance was effected by breaking in the front door.

GRIFFITH IS EXONERATED

Collector of the Owensboro Revenue District Freed of Blame.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The civil service commission today dismissed as being without foundation charges brought several months ago by Congressman John W. Langley against Collector Josh Griffith of the Owensboro district, relating to alleged discrimination against republican employees. The commission finds the charges groundless and commends Griffith warmly for his efficiency along certain lines.

She Was Cool.

Mrs. Mary Camias, of San Francisco, confessed that she killed Michael Weinstein, a crippled peddler from Atlantic City, in her apartment Tuesday night. She said she killed the man Monday night, secreted the body so that her husband knew nothing of the crime, and cut the body to pieces the following day. Husband and wife slept that night in the bedroom where the peddler's body lay. Mrs. Camias accused Weinstein of blackmail and personal affront.

FARM POULTRY

FEEDING TABLE FOR POULTRY

Platform Arranged on Which Food and Hoppers are Placed—Nests are Placed Underneath.

I use in my henhouse a table or platform on which the drinking vessels and the food and other hoppers are placed, says a writer in Farm and Home. This table is in the middle of the house and is two and one-half feet high. Both sides of it are fitted with nest boxes that can be pulled out and closed. The boxes are a foot square and ten inches deep. The back part of the box is boarded up three inches, which leaves an opening for the hen to enter the nest from beneath the table.

Over each nest a door is cut through the top of the table and hinged in place, thus making it convenient to gather the eggs without pulling out the box. The advantages of such an arrangement are: The eggs can be gathered without stooping, the nests are dark, no floor space is utilized, the food and drinking water are kept clean, the nests can be taken out and cleaned with little trouble.

CARE FOR INCUBATOR HATCH

Some Judgment Should Be Exercised in Testing Eggs—Remove Infertile Eggs When Found.

In caring for a hatch with an incubator some judgment should be exercised when testing the eggs. Some people do not even try to test the eggs, fearing they will throw out some that are fertile. Now this is all nonsense, for if the eggs do not keep together in appearance you may be sure that some of them are no good. The majority of the eggs will show a daily advance. Some who are expert at the business commence testing the eggs on the sixth day, but one who is unaccustomed to the business cannot tell with certainty which are fertile and which are not until the ninth or tenth day.

Now and then a chick will die when a week or ten days along, and will get offensive to the olfactory nerves if allowed to remain in the incubator. In fact an egg becomes so foul as to interfere with the hatch. All such eggs should be removed, as soon as discovered.

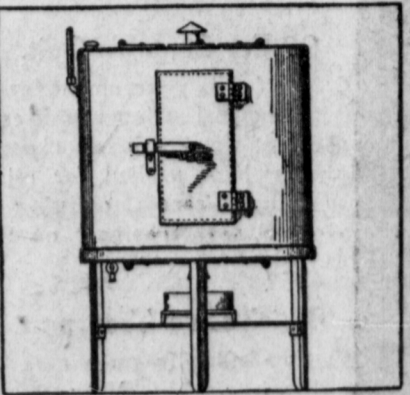

Clear eggs should be taken out just as soon as you discover them to be infertile, and these can be cooked and given to the young chicks to eat. The removal of these will keep the eggs down to the ones containing the live chicks and will make the work of caring for them less and give you a better chance to study the remaining eggs.

LATEST MAKE OF INCUBATOR

Series of Trays Supported One Over the Other Around Central Vertical Metal Tube.

The Scientific American in describing an improvement on an incubator, the invention of C. H. Osborn of St. Joseph, Mo., says:

In carrying out this improvement the invention supports a series of trays or pans one over the other around a central vertical metal tube which serves as an elongated chimney for a lamp employed as a heating medium. The egg trays are supported upon flanges secured to the inner wall of the body or casing of the incubator, and may be rotated thereon to facilitate the introduction of eggs through a door provided for this casing or body.

Winter Feed for Hens. Plan to bury or otherwise store as much cabbage and as many turnips, beets, rutabagas, pumpkins, etc., as possible, for winter feed for the hens. Properly buried, a little later in the season, any of these will keep perfectly all winter. A plentiful supply of such things will aid materially in keeping the hens in good laying condition—vigorous, alert, full of pep and on the job all the time.

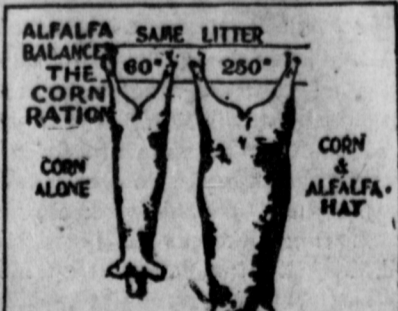

Feed Hens for Eggs. Many hens lay on a large number of eggs.

EXPERIMENT WITH HOG FEED

months. The alfalfa-corn pigs averaged 250 pounds dressed; the corn-alone pigs but 60 pounds each. Pigs must have protein. There is plenty of it in alfalfa. The balanced ration made the difference.

PROTECT STOCK FROM FLIES

Department of Agriculture Recommends Mixture of Soap and Kerosene—Use Spray or Wash.

(By CHARLES I. BRAY, Colorado Experiment Station.)

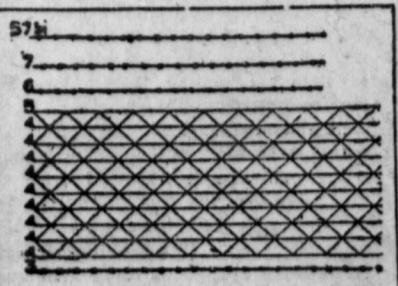

During the summer months, when cattle are most likely to be bothered with flies, there are many people who wish to know what can be done as a preventive. There are a number of methods sometimes recommended for this purpose, some of which are supposed to keep flies off the animal by virtue of their bad odor or greasy nature, and some which are supposed to be sprayed on to kill the flies. Considerable doubt exists as to the benefits to be obtained from using any of these treatments, or as to the relative value of the different ways of combating flies.

For spraying the backs of cattle at milking time, there is possibly nothing more reliable than kerosene emulsion. The following recipe given by the United States department of agriculture is one of the best ways of making this: Dissolve one-half pound of hard soap in one gallon of hot water, and while still at near boiling point add two gallons kerosene, and emulsify by use of a force pump or agitator of some kind. Dilute with water, one part emulsion to eight parts water, and use as a spray, dip or wash.

SUITABLE DOGPROOF FENCE

Arrangement Tried by Government Rangers and Found Satisfactory—Height Is 57 Inches.

On one of the government's forest ranges this fence has been tried for three months and found to be dog and coyote proof. Not a coyote made his way through it. Posts are set 16 feet apart. They are 7½ feet long and set Dogproof Fence.

2½ feet the ground. The lower wire lies flat on the ground. The numbers on the cut indicate the inches between wire strands. The total height of the fence is 57 inches. The woven wire fencing is 36 inches high and has a four-inch mesh.

SHEEP REQUIRE SOME SHADE

Best Place for Shed Is on Open Ground Where There Is No Grass—High Fence Will Do.

Do not allow the sheep to lie around in fence corners or huddle in underbrush. The best shade is a shed on open ground where there is no grass. A little bit of shelter is fine for sheep. Even if it be nothing more than a high board fence on the side toward the sunshine it will help a lot. The sheep can snuggle up near to that and escape the direct rays of the sun.

Better than such a fence is a piece of woodland. We have a cluster of little hemlocks in our pasture, up on a side hill, says a writer in an exchange. The sheep run up into that and escape not only the heat, but also the miserable flies that hurt them so.

Examine Ram for Ticks. It is a good plan to examine the ram once in a while for ticks, and if any are found he should be thoroughly soaked with a few gallons of a dip preparation. This can easily be done with a hand sprayer while the ram is in a pen.

The Rector Was Right.

If there is anyone who knows the pulse of the people any better than the man of the cloth, let's hear from him. The other day the ladies' guild of an uptown church planned an evening entertainment and reception, says the New York Tribune. They asked the rector to make announcement of it on the preceding Sunday. "This is all right," he said, "but you must charge admission." "Why, this is just a social evening," they chorused in protest. "We are inviting people." "They won't come," said the rector, "because they will think it is not worth while. But charge a small admission and you will have a good crowd." So the women gave in and subsequent events proved the rector was right.

Industrious Turkish Women. The Turkish women are to be counted among the most industrious of the earth. They certainly do a vast amount of work. They make carpets, screens for doors, workbags, horse clothing and blankets. A Turkish girl makes all the kibitka or tent domestic carpets and other household requisites before she is married. If she gets married without completing this task it is expected that she will, by her own labor, refund the money which her parents have given her as her dowry. This dowry usually consists of one hundred sheep and a certain amount of money, which a bridegroom usually pays down in a lump sum to the parents of the bride. An important part of the ceremony is to decorate a camel with the handsomest trappings, which are sent to the bride's tent. On this she goes forth to receive congratulations of her relatives and friends. It is on this she is carried away by the female relatives of the bridegroom. She and her attendants feign to resist the act by throwing raw oats at the other women.

REMOVED HEART OF CHOPIN

Before Evacuation of Warsaw Russians Saw That Prized Relic of Musician Was in Safety.

Before evacuating Warsaw the Russians removed from the Church of the Holy Cross the heart of the great musician, Chopin.

Chopin left Poland to seek his fortune in more favored lands in 1830, and was kept in exile by circumstances till his death in Paris.

"His body rests in Pere-La Chaise cemetery, sprinkled with Polish earth. His heart was sent back to Warsaw to speak of his love for tortured Poland and to inspire his countrymen to hope and resolution," says the Glasgow Herald.

His letters to his parents were destroyed by the soldiers of General Berg in 1863 in the sacking of the house in which they were stored. Paris swarmed with Polish refugees, and Chopin found many friends among them. Liszt tells us he was a pure, generous, good and compassionate man, filled with a single sentiment, the love of country.

"But the man Chopin was very reserved, and the not inconsiderable Chopin literature does not bring us into anything like close touch with him. Only as a musician could he unburden his heart freely to all the world. In knowing his music we know Poland," says the article quoted above.

GIRLS IN THE PROFESSIONS

Very Few Take Their Occupations as Likely to Be the Work of a Lifetime.

Mary Cholmondeley once wittily said that a man looks tolerantly upon friendships between girls, "because he says to himself, 'Occupy until I come.'"

The same might be said with even greater truth about a man's view of a girl's work and about her own view of it, for that matter.

As long as marriage is at any rate a possibility, and as long as the prejudice against a woman's continuing her professional career after marriage prevails, very few women will take their professions as seriously as a man takes his.

Moreover, and this is even more important, very few parents will take the preparation of their daughters for professional life as seriously as they take the preparation of their sons.

As a rule girls are not encouraged to consider what they will be while they are children, whereas a father and mother will talk to a boy about his future profession when he is only ten or twelve years old.

SHIRT SLEEVES.

"Do you believe in shirt-sleeve diplomacy?"

"I don't know what it is," replied the sardonic citizen. "When a man's in his shirt sleeves he may have taken his coat off because he's willing to fight or because he wants to appear cool and comfortable."

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION.

"Poverty," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "is no disgrace."

"No," replied Mr. Growcher. "Poverty is like wealth in one way. The amount of respect attached to it depends entirely on how you came by it."

QUITE YOUTHFUL THEN.

"The Widow Jimpson carries her age well."

"She certainly does. And when she goes out on a joy ride, by jinks, she seems to leave it behind her entirely!"

NOT PREFERRED.

"I suppose that even aviators have their fashions."

"Yes, but few of them, I hear, are inclined to any new fall styles."

BY MARS AND COMPANY.

"That's certainly some big movie that's being staged in Europe."

"You bet! It might be called 'The Death of a Nation.'"

CHILD'S RIGHTS SET FORTH

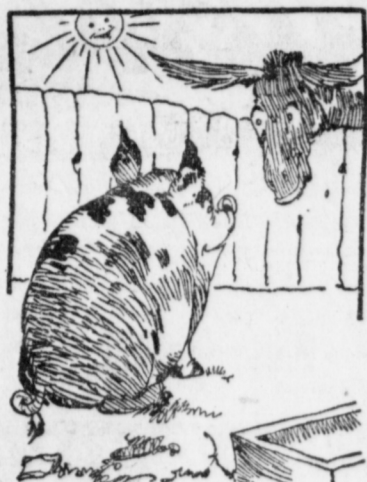

Subject Which Is Worth Attention of Parents Who Would Be Fair to Little Ones.

A principle of psychology which every mother should know is that the last thought before going to sleep makes the deepest impression. Try it. The last thought at night is sure to be the first waking thought. A child should never be punished just before going to bed if you wish to create in him a joyous disposition. A happy bedtime will mean a sunny morning face.

Another important fact, based more upon physiological than upon psychological principles, is the importance of happy mealtime. Perhaps the child has done some little naughty thing and is scolded for it until he cries or is sent from the table. His dinner is spoiled. He needs that dinner. He cannot be happy if he is hungry or if he feels undue censure and he will be cross or depressed all afternoon. Did you ever indulge in weeping at mealtime or allow yourself to become very angry? If so, did you find your digestion improved and did you have a happy day? As it was with you, so is it with the child. It is a well-known physiological fact that anger and grief interfere seriously with digestion. If you wish to lay in your child a foundation for indigestion you can find no more effective way.

It is even worse to send a child to bed supperless. No one can be at his best morally and spiritually unless he is at his best physically. No child can be improved morally by being injured physically. To send a child away from the table hungry or to send him supperless to bed is a relic of barbarism. It will not only fail to bring good results at the time but will lay the foundation of future misery and unhappiness. A happy bedtime and a happy mealtime are the right of every child.—Josephine Barclay in the Mother's Magazine.

"SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK"

THE MAN TO BLAME.

Gen. Von Bissing, governor general of Belgium, is the man who refused to listen to Minister Whitlock's appeals for mercy or delay in the case of Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse, shot for aiding British soldiers to escape. The tragic account of the execution of the nurse, with the story that she fainted when about to be shot and was killed by an officer who shot her in the head as she lay on the ground, has stirred the world to depths of wrath.

GERMAN CONSPIRATOR CONFESSES

Robert Fay, a German Lieutenant, who says he was decorated with the iron cross for fighting in France, is under arrest with four other men for conspiracy in New York. Fay has confessed that he came to this country last April through an agreement with the German secret service to blow up or delay steamers laden with war supplies for the Allies. Fay confessed that while on the battlefield he talked with his superior officers about a device to blow up ships; that later his idea of coming to America and carrying his scheme through was well received by the German secret service; that he came well enough supplied with money to act on his own responsibility.

A CARD TO THE VOTERS.

To my friends, the people of Christian county:

I am earnestly seeking re-election at your hands to the office of Circuit Clerk. I have done my best to satisfactorily perform the duties of that office for one term of six years, and I am now before the people asking an endorsement of my record.

My duties as clerk during the present September term of Circuit Court, have prevented me from going out in the county and seeing most of the voters personally, and I will be unable in the short time which I now have to make a personal appeal to every one of you.

I want each voter to know that I will sincerely appreciate any support or help that may be given me. You have honored me once, and if my record as Circuit Clerk merits your approval, give me your endorsement.

Very truly,
W. A. RADFORD.

DIXIE HIGHWAY INSPECTION TOUR ENDS AT MIAMI, FLA.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 27.—The first inspection tour of the Dixie Highway Commissioners in history, some of it thrilling, some of it rough, but all of it happy, for the tour ended here Monday with a record of no serious accidents and all official cars finishing the 1,800-mile journey. President M. M. Allison and Mrs. Allison, of Chattanooga, traveled the entire distance from Chicago to Miami.

Miami put on a lively climax to the tour; in fact, it offered headline attractions from the moment the cars arrived within twenty-five miles of the city. Fully 500 automobiles and a band met the caravan and escorted it through long lines of cheering citizens.

J. A. WHITAKER TO HOPKINSVILLE

Clarksville Loses a Splendid Citizen, Hopkinsville Gains a Booster.

Wails the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle:

It is with keen and sincere regret that Clarksville gives up one of her real live wire boosters, Mr. J. A. Whitaker, who this morning left for Hopkinsville, where he, in the future, will make his headquarters. Mr. Whitaker came to Clarksville in January, 1914, to take charge of the Government post road that has just been completed in this county. He is a man of pleasing personality and immediately won a place for himself in the hearts of Montgomery countians. As a citizen of Clarksville he has taken much interest in the happenings of the community. Especially is that so in connection with the Dixie Bee Line fight. Mr. Whitaker was among the very first to realize the immense advantage this route would be to Clarksville and lent valuable assistance to the Leaf-Chronicle by preparing maps and sketches in order that the matter might be placed in an intelligent manner before the reading public. Not after the publicity had accomplished the purpose for which it was intended did Mr. Whitaker stop work. He personally made many of the long, hard drives with the directors, pointing out the technical advantages of the route. In addition to the splendid work he has done for Montgomery county, Mr. Whitaker, as division engineer, has had charge of state road work in thirteen Kentucky counties, contracts having been let for more than $150,000 for roadbuilding and improvement. Clarksville's loss is Hopkinsville's gain. Mr. Whitaker when in Rome is a Roman. When in Hopkinsville he will be a loyal Hoptown booster, and one who will be in position to do our sister city much and lasting good. No doubt he will be accorded a hearty welcome. The good wishes of his Montgomery county friends follow him to his new home.

VICK'S Croup and SALVE FOR ALL COLD TROUBLES

Henderson Judge Sits.

Henderson, Ky., Oct. 26.—Circuit Judge J. W. Henson, of this city, left for Hartford Monday morning, where he will preside over the county Circuit Court this week. He was appointed special Judge by Gov. McCreary to try cases against alleged "possum hunters."

How to Treat Croup Externally

Rub Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve well over the throat and chest for a few minutes—then cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the soothing medicated vapors arising may loosen the choking phlegm and ease the difficult breathing. One application at bedtime insures against a night attack. 25c, 50c, or $1.00. At druggists.

PORTER CHARLTON TRIED IN ITALY

Given Six Years For Killing His Wife Who Hen-Pecked Him.

Como, Italy, Oct. 25.—Porter Charlton, the American who has been on trial here charged with murdering his wife in 1910, was sentenced to six years and eight months imprisonment.

Porter Charlton killed his wife in their villa on Lake Como June 9, 1910. He was 20 years old and she many years his senior. At the time of their marriage, a short time prior to the tragedy, she was Mrs. Naville H. Casté, a daughter of Henry H. Scott, of San Francisco. Charlton's father is Paul Charlton, former Federal Judge of the district of Porto Rico.

Charlton and his bride were on their honeymoon at Lake Como when he killed her. Placing her body in a trunk he threw it into Lake Como, where it was found by a boatman. Charlton fled from Italy and returned to the United States. He was arrested when he landed at Hoboken and immediately confessed.

In his confession, Charlton said that his wife was subject to fits of violent temper and that when enraged she showered abuse upon him. It was during one of these fits, he seized a mallet and struck her about on the head, killing her. He then put the body into the trunk and threw it into the lake.

For three years Charlton was held prisoner in Jersey City before he was returned to Italy for trial.
